Department. Co-Head of the Labor and Corporate Immigration Department

Adv. Orit Zilony-Klinman is the Co-Head of the Labor and Corporate Immigration Department.

Adv. Zilony-Klinman is one of the leading lights in the field of Israeli labor law. She is especially prominent for her expertise in issues of collective bargaining and labor relationships, specifically in drafting and negotiating collective bargaining agreements relating to wages and working conditions following corporate restructuring, strikes, industrial actions, and privatizations.

Adv. Zilony-Klinman has extensive experience representing clients in complex labor law litigation before Israel's regional labor tribunals, the National Labor Court, and Israel's High Court of Justice. Her litigation expertise includes labor tribunal class actions, representing leading companies in the hi-tech, transportation and commerce fields, as well as academic and higher-education institutions, individuals and trade unions. Adv. Zilony-Klinman's years of high-level litigation experience enable her to achieve beneficial results for her clients, while simultaneously striving to resolve the dispute through alternative measures such as mediation and arbitration.

Adv. Zilony-Klinman is a frequent lecturer on matters of Israel labor law at various academic institutions, and regularly publishes professional articles and op-eds in the Israel media.
